THIS WEEK'S SPEAKER DR. ARMAND WEISS

Dr. Armand Weiss has spent about 35 years, off and on, performing often covert operations for the United States. One of those “adventures” was serving for three years as a double agent (double spy) for the Soviet Union and the U.S. He is one of the principal subjects in the national best-selling book “Spy vs. Spy”. The operation made the front pages of many newspapers, including the Washington Post, and was covered on radio and TV. Dr. Weiss will discuss that operation and, time permitting, one or two other “adventures”.

Dr. Weiss has a diverse background – economics, finance, science, management, logistics, and sports. He has worked at high levels in the White House, Department of Defense, Department of Energy, think tanks, non-profit organizations, and corporations. Armand has been president or executive director of dozens of groups, including the Washington Academy of Sciences and the National Council of Associations in the Policy Sciences.

Armand has traveled to over 80 countries; earned eight medals, including gold, at Senior Olympics competitions; led the U.S. delegations to two NATO meetings in Europe; and was Chairman of the Advisory Panel of the Secretary of Defense’s Economic Analysis Council. His published works fill more than a six-shelf bookcase. He was the founding editor of the first newsletter in the world in the field of cost-effectiveness and, for 17 years, founding editor of the world’s largest circulation publication in the fields of operations research and management science.

He received his B.S. in Economics and an MBA from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania and a Doctorate of Business Administration (DBA) from George Washington University. He has been Alumni Club president at both schools and received the outstanding Alumni Award at both schools. He is also a Certified Association Executive. He is listed in many current biographies, including Who’s Who in the World, Who’s Who in America, Who’s Who in Science and Engineering, and Who’s Who in Finance and Business.

Some of his accomplishments include: a founder of the U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve; designer of the ubiquitous gasoline octane label found on all U.S. gas pumps; a major writer of President Ford’s first State of the Union Message; and originator of the law which permits direct deposit of government pay checks to banks (reversing a law signed by President Abraham Lincoln).

Currently, he is on the Board of Directors of Fairfax Water (and their Treasurer and Chair of its Finance and Audit Committee); 2nd Vice President of the McLean Citizens Association; Chair of Dranesville Supervisor John Foust’s Budget Task Force for Fairfax County; a member of the McLean Planning Committee; president of two corporations; and on the Board (and past president) of Temple Rodef Shalom in Falls Church.

Last week's speaker was Stephen Grant, author of Collecting Shakespeare (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2014), biography of Henry and Emily Folger, founders of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington DC.
