Art Hauptman

"Restaurants In Arlington"

Arthur M. Hauptman has been an independent public policy consultant since 1981, specializing in higher education finance issues. He has consulted and written extensively on policies regarding student financial aid, fee-setting, and the public funding of higher education in the U.S. and in more than two dozen countries around the world. A consistent theme of his work is that higher education public policies are most effective when funding, fees, and financial aid are linked systematically.

Today, Mr. Hauptman will share with us some experiences and impressions from his "other life" as a restaurateur and the owner of two Arlington restaurants: Cassatt's Kiwi Café, which he established in 2002 after his family lived in New Zealand for a year; and Bistro 360 in Rosslyn which he started in 2014, which serves great food and drink from cuisines around the world. Art has lived in Arlington for more than forty years. He earned a BA in Economics from Swarthmore College in 1972 and a MBA from Stanford University in 1976.

Last Week

Chalisa Bracken of LeaderBoost LLC described how she applies her broad experience in leadership and sales by helping companies and organizations build teamwork using The Leadership Game. Chalisa is one of only a few hundred people in the world certified to facilitate this game.
